PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I'm a software engineer with a background in design and nearly 10 years of experience in front-end development.
I currently work at Aubay, where I lead front-end technical decisions for TAP Air Portugal's design system, building component libraries with Angular, React, and Web Components.
Over the years, I've worked on projects across healthcare, e-commerce, finance, and startups, especially with Angular and Vue.js.
I like learning new things and finding ways to apply them, even when they're not directly related to development.
